The people of Walter P Moore come from everywhere but we all have one thing in common: a passion for what we do, as individuals and as a team. The World's Most-Visited Engineering Job Site Search engineering jobs by engineering discipline or location and find 300,000 engineering jobs in the U.S. and Canada. Engineering education is the activity of teaching knowledge and principles to the professional practice of engineering. It includes an initial education (bachelor's and/or master's degree), and any advanced education and specializations that follow. Our office locations are almost as diverse as our people. Whether your project is just down the street or in a place far, far away, Walter P Moore offices in 20 U.S. locations from coast to coast and 5 international locales, so we're able to serve your structural and infrastructural challenges wherever they reside.
